INTRODUCTION

Kanchipuram has a rich history that dates back over two millennia. It has been an important center for various dynasties, including the Pallavas, Cholas, and Vijayanagara, each contributing to the city's cultural and architectural heritage.

The city is famous for its handwoven silk sarees, known as Kanchipuram sarees. These sarees are prized for their vibrant colors, intricate designs, and high-quality silk. The silk weaving industry is a significant economic and cultural aspect of Kanchipuram.

CULTURE

The spiritual environment of the city extends beyond the temples, permeating everyday life and cultural practices

Religious Festivals

One of the prominent religious festivals celebrated in Kanchipuram is the "Maha Shivaratri," dedicated to Lord Shiva. Maha Shivaratri is a Hindu festival that typically falls in the month of February or March, depending on the lunar calendar.

The annual religious festivals, such as Brahmotsavam and Panguni Uthiram, are celebrated with great enthusiasm, attracting devotees from across the region.

ABOUT US

Revive the Brahmana Sampradhayam – an idea resurrected by the visionary SVR Sri Vasana Aiyer!

And SVR Sri Vasana Aiyer brought this vision to life, weaving the tapestry of Brahmana Sampradhayam into seven vibrant corners of Tamil Nadu!

From the spiritual sanctuaries of Kanchipuram to the sacred grounds of Ayodhya, Aghraharam homes are spreading their wings! The legacy continues to flourish in Parikkal, Govindapuram, Eachankudi, Srirangam, Alankudi Gurustharam, Nachiyaarkoil, Ozhugoor, and soon, at the heart of Sriperambatore, Tanjavore, Chennai, Tirupathi, and the serene shores of Pondicherry.

AGHRAHARAM HOMES

A Glimpse of Tradition and Culture

Aghraharam homes, also known as Agraharams, are unique residential communities predominantly found in Tamil Nadu. These settlements have been a vital part of the cultural and architectural heritage of India for centuries.

Historical Significance:

Aghraharam homes have their roots deeply embedded in India's history, dating back to ancient times. They were traditionally established near temples and served as dwellings for scholars, priests, and people engaged in religious and cultural activities. The proximity to temples was intended to facilitate religious practices and preserve local traditions.

Architectural Features:

Layout: Typically, Agraharams feature a linear layout of houses on either side of a narrow street.

Courtyard: Each house usually has a central courtyard, fostering community interaction and serving as an outdoor gathering space.

AIM OF SRI AGHRAHARAM

To Spread Aghraharam homes all over India and preserve the Brahmana Sampradhyam.

Rituals and Pujas: Brahmin households often perform daily rituals and pujas, such as the worship of deities like Lord Ganesha, Lord Shiva, or Goddess Lakshmi.

Vedic Chanting: The recitation of Vedic hymns and mantras is an integral part of Brahmin traditions and is commonly done in homes.

Samskaras: Brahmins follow various samskaras or rites of passage, including Namakaran (naming ceremony), Annaprashana (first feeding of solid food), and Upanayana (sacred thread ceremony), which are conducted at home.

Ahara Niyamas: Observing dietary restrictions and following strict rules related to food preparation, such as being vegetarian and adhering to a Satvik diet.

Sandhyavandanam: The daily practice of performing the Sandhyavandanam, a ritual for connecting with the divine through prayers and rituals.

Homas and Yagnas: Performing homas (fire rituals) and yagnas (sacrificial ceremonies) for specific purposes, such as spiritual growth and well-being.

Observing Purity: Maintaining personal and environmental purity is essential in Brahmin households. This includes regular baths, clean clothing, and maintaining a clean living space.

Study of Scriptures: Brahmin children are often encouraged to study sacred texts like the Vedas, Upanishads, and other philosophical and religious texts.

Charity and Dharma: Giving to charity and following the principles of dharma (righteousness) are important aspects of Brahmin culture.

Dress Code: Wearing traditional clothing, such as dhoti and kurta for men, and saree for women, is a common practice in Brahmin households.
